PACKING MATERIAL.

For about five years we have been using EXCELSIOR (not shingle toe from the sawmills, but a much finer and, we think, far superior article, being an off-grade from the regular excelsior factories), for our packing, and have found that shipments so packed reach destination in best condition, regardless of distance, either home shipments or exportations, and that for use in packing away stock in storage cellars it is FAR SUPERIOR to the best moss; does not HEAT under any conditions; no MOULD or FUNGUS; keeps stock damp, fresh and in best condition, and is far cheaper than moss.

For years we have been furnishing some of the leading nurseries of the United States with this material, and it has so pleased them that their orders have increased rapidly. It is dry and put up in good solid bales, averaging about 100 to 150 lbs. Parties ordering early and accepting shipment when material is ready, will be most certain of having their wants supplied. Order now for next fall and winter use.

Prices in small lots, 65c per bale, 50 bales $25.00.

Prices in car-load lots quoted on application.

 We can now furnish one or two car loads for immediate shipment. Order quick and save disappointment.

POMONA CURRANT.

All Former Records Broken. No Competitor.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, July 28, 1900.

A. & H.:

GENTLEMEN: From my experience of several years, I am led to believe that the POMONA currant is the most valuable red currant that is before the public to-day.

At the Iowa State Horticultural Meeting held in Des Moines, Iowa, last December, I noticed all Experiment station keepers that tested the POMONA currant report without exception it is the best red currant they ever tested.

SILAS WILSON.

If you do not have a good stock of GENUINE POMONA you had better get them soon, and be sure they are GENUINE.

In one year the crop of fruit from $6\frac{1}{2}$ acres of POMONA CURRANTS was sold at wholesale for over \$4,076.00 or over \$627.00 per acre.

In three consecutive years, the fruit from this same $6\frac{1}{2}$ acres of POMONA CURRANTS was sold at wholesale for \$9,000, making over \$1,384.00 or over \$461.00 per acre per year.

In one year the fruit from this $6\frac{1}{2}$ acres of POMONA CURRANTS was sold for over \$3,400.00, yet of the 83 rows making the $6\frac{1}{2}$ acres, 19 rows were planted 5 years, 41 rows 3 years, and 23 rows 2 years, making the average time these had been planted less than $3\frac{1}{4}$ years, and the 60 rows first planted had borne a heavy crop in the previous year.

READ WHAT THEY SAY OF IT.

Albertson & Hobbs, Bridgeport, Ind.:

LOCKPORT, N. Y.

We have the Pomona currant growing by the side of Prince Albert of the same age. A prominent Rochester, N. Y., and also an Iowa nurseryman, have both been here this week, and both agreed there is double the fruit on the Pomona that there is on the Prince Albert, and it is larger. It is surely out-yielding the Fay, which I had not thought possible. In fact, there is no kind on the place to match it in yield, and only the Cherry and Fay beat it in size. It must be in demand when it becomes known.

Yours,

E. B. LEWIS.
